BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins by Grocers, labelled thus:

Daily Established 1834. Weekly 1815.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING:

Whether the watch was taken from the vest, or whether he lost it while at work, he cannot tell, but is inclined to think that it was taken by some one.

During the first eleven business days of this month, there were sent from Fort Fairfield 134 freight cars containing 21,725 bushels of potatoes, 1,032,000 shingles, 193 tons of hay, 156 tons starch, 784 dozen eggs, 7,114 railroad ties, 194 pelts, 41 hides, 700 lbs. butter, 1,000 lbs. wool, 5 barrels pe... and 150 lbs. honey.

Representative Boutelle's bill for the construction of a new public building at Houlton, has been reported with a favorable recommendation from the committee on public buildings and public grounds, and will probably pass the House at an early day. The bill appropriates $50,000 for the site and building, which is to be used for a custom house and post office.

The Presque Isle grist mill has ground 25,094 bushels of grain this season, of which 8,094 bushels was wheat. The mill is running day and night. Farmers coming twelve to fifteen miles can have their grist to take home. A large portion of the wheat ground at this mill comes from Caribou, Fort Fairfield and Easton.

Mr. Freeman Hayden, one of the first settlers and oldest and most respected citizens of Presque Isle, was suddenly stricken with paralysis, last Saturday night, and has remained in a comatose condition the most of the time since. The doctors consider his condition very critical.

The official statement of the finances of Aroostook County, shows that the receipts for the year 1884, including 884 85 cash on hand, were $18,035 15. Expenditures, $17,8... 58, leaving a cash balance in the Treasury, of Dec. 31, 1884, $1,036 57. The resources of the County amount to $16,582 84, liabilities, $10,931 88, excess of resources $5,620 96, showing a net gain during 1884, of $1,593.82. This is a gratifying statement for the tax payers.

Cumberland.

Maine's importations of corn via the roads that come into Portland are 10,000 to 15,000 carloads a year.

Two Augusta farmers, returning from the west, were defrauded of $60 by two confidence men on a railroad train at Concord, recently.

Mr. H. C. Burleigh is improving in health, and his friends in Waterville were glad to again greet him, last Monday.

The Waterville bridge will soon be going up. One of the contractors is there with a crew of men, and some of the lumber and iron has arrived. It is expected the structure will be completed in contract time.

Samuel Jordan, of Waterville, the Lockwood Co.'s teamster, broke his leg on Monday. In coming down the crooked road to the ice at the Head of the Falls, his sled slewed and his load of wood fell on him.

A satisfactory arrangement was made, Thursday, by Mr. J. H. Manley, representing the Edwards Company of Augusta, and Mr. ... H. Randall, representing the lumbering interest upon the river, by which no legislation will be asked in reference to the closing of the lock in the dam in Augusta.

Sagadahoc.

There was a small fire in Bath, Wednesday night, in Mrs. McNiel's room, over Dunton's store. One of the children had a lamp which was filled with oil, which slopped over, catching fire, the child became frightened and threw the lamp into the hall, where it exploded, filling the hall with flames. It was extinguished with snow, without much damage.

The House Committee on Invalid Pensions have favorably reported the bill introduced by Mr. Dingley to give a pension to Mrs. Sarah S. Sampson, of Bath, who served so faithfully as a nurse during the war. The pension is fixed at $25 per month. If the bill can be reached, it will probably pass the House. Senator Hale has introduced a similar bill in the Senate.

Waldo.

Hon. S. L. Milliken has secured from the Post Office Department an order doubling the mail service between Belfast and Swanville; also a promise that a new post office shall be established at South Freedom, with a mail route from that place to Freedom. And the supervising architect has assured him that plans and specifications for the enlargement of the Belfast post office will be at once called for from Mr. Fogg, and that proposals for contracts for part of the work, at least, will be issued if the plans are satisfactory.

Washington.

The Calais Times says: "In sheltered places in the city, where the sun shines most of the day, lilac bushes have not only budded, but partially leaved, during January."

Mr. D. M. Gardiner is making preparations for building his new hotel at Calais. It will be erected on the site now occupied by the building known as the Harrison property.

York.

There was but one lodger at the Biddeford station house, Wednesday night, and he was a boy fifteen years old. He said his home was in Portland, and that he came from Newburyport and obtained work in one of the mills. Being unable to secure a boarding place, he was forced to apply at the station house for a lodging.

State at Large.

One of the many institutions favored by the will of ex-Gov. Coburn is the Wayland Seminary for colored students, in Washington, D. C., which receives $50,000. The announcement of the bequest was received with much feeling. The institution was founded by Rev. G. M. P. King, a native of Maine. Several of the teachers are also natives of Maine, as is also Mr. Wheeler, a former pastor of ex-Gov. Coburn, who gave an interesting sketch of ex-Gov. Coburn's life, to a large crowd gathered to hear the announcement of the legacy.

of which have already begun work. In Texas there is an average of over a dozen new roads chartered at each session of the Legislature. The numerous small lines, which have been the characteristic of the Southern system, are consolidating into trunk lines, with sufficient mileage and capital to assure their successful operation. The effort to secure the adoption of the standard gauge on all Southern roads—most of them are broad gauge now—is another move in the direction of increased through traffic. This difference in gauge has been one of the drawbacks in getting goods to the Exposition.

The Southern exhibits are largely made up of raw materials, but the number of exhibits of these sources of wealth, with the showing of manufactures, indicate that the people here begin to realize the necessity for a diversification of industry. This should have a marked effect on the temper of the Southern people. Here in New Orleans the protection spirit is in the ascendancy, and among the commissioners from the Southern States it is noticeable that there is a good deal of talk in that direction. Randall seems to be a popular man with them. The proposed Spanish treaty has apparently had its effect in awakening the people here to the necessity of upholding the protection policy. When a free-trade policy touches their own pockets, or a proposition is made to admit free of duty sugar, tobacco, rice, or anything which competes with their products, they unsparingly denounce it.

The progress in the South is comparatively slow for one thing, because of the illiteracy of the people. The total registration of voters in this State up to the recent election was 118,906, an increase of 26 per cent since 1880. The Picayune, a leading Democratic paper, says that "the registration is largely duplication and much of it is fraudulent." While that is true it does not affect the percentage of illiteracy as shown by that registration, which was 57 per cent. In other words, considerably over half of the voters of the State had to make their marks instead of writing their names. The number of white voters who made their marks was 21,612. The political control of this city is with the hoodlum element. There is a ring which is able to run the State by the aid largely of the ignorance of its followers. The better element in this city was arrayed against the ring at the last city election and was defeated by the fraudulent practices of the ring leaders.

To revolutionize the condition of the South it is necessary to eliminate the enormous percentage of illiteracy. A diversification of industries will do a great deal, but that will not accomplish all that is necessary. Immigration is needed to infuse new blood, but that will not come until there is that elevation of the social and industrial conditions which can only be brought about by greater intelligence among the laboring people. Honest elections will be found equally necessary.

The desire for an improved condition, as shown by the Exposition is a hopeful sign. Many of the Southern States made legislative appropriations in order to be well represented here. In a few States the Legislatures are yet to meet, and they will be asked to make appropriations in order not to be behind their neighbors. For that reason the display from the South is not yet complete.

The Montreal Carnival

The Gazette of Montreal thus describes some of the turnouts that will be in the sleighing parade of the ice carnival week:

The sleighing parade this year promises to be very interesting, a leading feature being the snowshoe turnouts. The Montreal Snowshoe Club will occupy one of the three sleighs which the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association are going to place in the procession, and the remaining two will be used by the Bicycle Club and the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association respectively.

The woodwork of the snowshoers' vehicle will be hidden beneath the folds of blankets, the club crest will be emblazoned on the sides, appropriate trimmings and decorations will adorn the body of the sleigh, and the snowshoers will be grouped on raised seats while a streamer bearing the name of the club will float from a staff in the centre. The St. George's Club will turn out in a large raftsman's boat, which will be borne upon bobs. The lower portion will be hidden beneath heaps of snow, and ice piled around, and the sides will be encased in blankets, relieved by a St. George's cross in red on each side. A pennant with "St. George's" upon it will float from the stern.

About forty members will occupy seats on deck, and the boat will be drawn by six horses. The Emeralds will have a sleigh of the largest size, the sides of which will be covered with festoons of snowshoe blankets. On each side in the centre will be crossed shoes, with "Emerald Snowshoe Club" interwoven. A pyramid of steps will rise to a height of four or five flights, and will be occupied by about seventy wearers of the green; a pennant with the word "Emerald" will fly from a flagstaff, and ten horses will be attached to the sleigh. Les Trappeurs will have a fine large conveyance capable of holding six men, and drawn by ten horses. The body of the sleigh will be decorated in blue and white, and the words "Le Trappeur," as well as the ornamentation along the sides, will be made of miniature snowshoes. A gorgeous plume, a richly designed pennant, bearing the club crest, and a lamp at the head, complete the adornment of the sleigh.

The horses will all carry Russian collars with bells, the three outer ones on each side will be ridden by postilions, and the remaining four in the centre will be under the guidance of the driver. The sleigh to be occupied by representatives from Le Canadien Snowshoe Club will be supported on bobs. A brilliant canopied top will Bangor's Duty.

We publish this morning the views of several of our prominent citizens in relation to the proposition of the Lake Megantic Railroad Company to bridge Moosehead Lake, giving their reasons why the petition should not be granted. The WHIG has repeatedly urged the im- ortance of united action on the part of ar citizens to protect their own, as well . the interests of this section generally, d will continue in its efforts to arouse ablic sentiment to the necessity of mov- g in the matter at once. Bangor's pro- st should be emphatic, and as the hear- g occurs next Wednesday there is no me to lose. The friends of the project ave been in the field some time already d are bringing all the influence they can mmand to bear upon the legislators. It currently reported that they have sev- l lobbyists at work in hopes of pledg- a vote now and then, and it is evident at they mean to make a most stubborn ht.

s yet we have failed to see any state- t of the particular benefits that would derived by the people of this State from proposed route. It is said in a general that every railroad running through a te is a benefit, a statement that may be enough so far as it goes, providing t such road does not materially injure ital owned and already invested within limits of the State. The eastern sec- n of the State has the chief if not the ly interest in this matter as it stands to- ay and that interest is opposed to any endment of the Megantic charter. A years ago the E. & P. Road was the connection at the Lake that was con- red in the construction of the proposed and it was upon that consideration gely that the road was extended to nchard. Now what has caused this ge in front on the part of the Megan- folks after going so far as to locate eir line at the Lake on the very land nted by the B. & P. Road? A years ago the Megantic folks re exceedingly anxious to purchase the & P. Road, but the city was not will- to sacrifice the property at the price ered. Now the question is very natural- suggested in another column, do the gantic folks really intend to bridge the ke provided their petition is granted? a bridge would necessarily cost a eat deal in its construction and to main- n it in good running order would be y expensive. This being the case the ught is suggested to the writer luded to whether, or not the Megan- Road does not intend to use the led charter, if granted, as a lever force the city of Bangor accept such a price as they feel willing pay for the B. & P. Road. When they re negotiating before the city of Bangor s free to act without any undue influence ing brought to bear, but let the egantic Road come to us with this chart- in its possession, with the threat to dge the lake unless its terms are agreed and the city would be helpless to pre- t a sacrifice of its property, simply for benefit of a foreign corporation.

e papers of the State are nearly opposed to the scheme. The tland Press says: "Bangor's deep rest in the matter arises the fact that the city is the er of the Bangor & Piscataquis Rail- d, whose interests would be unfavor- ly affected by it, inasmuch as it would ke the Lake Megantic Road for some stance a competing line. Another ob- ion is that a bridge across the lake uld greatly impede lumbering oper- ns. The matter is likely to provoke a y lively contest in the legislature. fiestly a foreign railroad company ht not to be allowed to jeopardize the ested interest of our own citizens except very weighty reason."

Democratic Harmony.

ere seems to be a family row going n the ranks of the Democratic party of the Commercial is seeking "harmony" th a club. The special object of its th at this time appears to be the genial Cromwell, Chairman of the Democratic ate Committee. In an article on the re- organization of the committee the Com- rcial says:

> The chairmanship of the State Committee should not be conferred upon any one ause he has held the place before and ts it again, nor as a gratification of the sonal vanity of this or that aspirant for position.

It is hard to account for the likes and dislikes of some people. Here is Col. Cromwell, a life long Democrat, esteemed men of all political opinions because he s always been consistent in his actions, elieves in the real article of Democracy and not in political jugglers who belong to any party which will give them a boost, n to speak, and that the interests of the emocratic party require that it should be managed by Democrats and not by adventurers, and yet the Commercial is not satisfied; but on the other hand, desires to withhold the re-election to which he is entitled by party usage. As the Colonel, however, holds a good comfortable position on the Lake Shore Railroad which probably pays him much better than any political appointment, he can probably get along without the assistance of the Democratic party full as well as that organization can do without his services provided he should not be re-elected. At any rate the whole matter is not worth disputing about, as the Democratic Committee in this State two years hence will only have to prepare their party for the grave which the Republicans will see to it is very deep.

The Benefit of Protection.

Mr. David A. Welles may be interested in one speech which was made in the Senate Friday, says a Washington despatch. It illustrated how very poor a reliance the prophecies of the free traders are, and how very much mistaken Mr. Welles himself has been as to the effect of protection. It was the speech made by Mr. Dawes in accepting the silk flags which were presented by the Woman's Silk Culture Association. Mr. Dawes in substance said: "I have been gratified at this interesting ceremony here, illustrating the great progress and rapid growth of silk culture in the country, and it called up very vividly in my mind an incident in legislation. When the Ways and Means Committee were considering the question whether it would be possible for the people of this country, with any success to engage in the manufacture of silk in competition with the manufacturers of silk in other countries where labor was cheaper, a very distinguished political economist of this country (David A. Welles, although Mr. Dawes did not name him,) appeared before the committee for the purpose of relieving those manufacturers of silks which are made in foreign countries from the duties then imposed upon them, on the ground that the manufacture of silk in the United States was an impossibility, and that, therefore, the duties upon manufactured silk were simply a tax upon the consumer.

"I cannot keep out of mind the statement made at that time that this was utterly impracticable, and yet the census of 1880—eight years at least from the time that statement was made shows that there are made annually in this country $41,000,000 of silk manufactured goods; and that we are, with one exception, the largest silk manufacturing country in the world; that $19,000,000 of capital were invested in the manufacture; that 31,000 men, women and children were furnished with employment and wages in that work; and that the cost of silk goods in this country had in the meantime been reduced 34 per cent. To-day, I suppose, we are the first country in the world in the production of silk manufactures, and these and like goods are the fruit of that system. I congratulate the country upon this occasion for this demonstration to the wisdom of the policy that has nurtured and sustained the manufacture of these goods."

There has seldom been a happier illustration of the benefits of protection in any particular industry than in the apt speech of Mr. Dawes.

Among the Law Makers.

[From an Occasional Correspondent.]

AUGUSTA, Jan. 24, 1885.

The third week of the Legislature closed to-day without disclosing much of interest beyond the introduction of petitions and bills, and the beginning of committee service which may now be considered fairly at work. Important hearings will take place next week before the committees on the Judiciary, Education, Interior Waters and Railroads.

On Wednesday of next week, Rev. Dr. Thos. Hill, Thomas Tash and the acting principal of the Portland Deaf School will appear before the Committee on Education for additional aid for that school which now receives only a limited State support. They will bring with them three pupils, who have been taught to talk by articulate sounds, to illustrate the new method of instruction and its success.

The Judiciary Committee are carefully considering the petition for a Superior Court in Androscoggin and Aroostook counties. In the latter county, there is no opposition to the establishment of such a court, which it seems is demanded by the citizens of Northern Aroostook; but it may be questioned in the case of the former county, whether a large expense, necessarily incident to the creation of a new court, may not be avoided by giving one or more additional terms of the Supreme Court. This question of expense together with the well known fact that Penobscot does not want such a court, and that members of the Supreme Court deem one in that county undesirable, will cause the Judiciary Committee to move slowly.

Major Alford, of New York, delivered a lecture before the members in the Hall of the House, Thursday evening, on "Experimental Stations and Fertilizers," which was pronounced by the audience unanimously to be a most instructive and eloquent presentation of the scientific side of agriculture. He complimented highly the abilities of President Fernald of the State College, whose reputation has already reached to the great Northwest. Several of his pupils and graduates are employed by Major Alford at his station, where, he said, they are showing good work.

In a literary point of view the event of the week is the lecture on "Mince Pie as my Mother made it" delivered last night before a most select audience, in G. A. R. Hall, by Edward Wiggin, President of the State Board of Agriculture. He kept his hearers for over an hour in constant succession of laughter and tears. The readers of the WHIG need no introduction to the genial author of the poem "To Brother Davie." To others who heard him for the first time, his address was most welcome, being replete with wit, poetry and vigorous prose.

Speaker Hamlin has been afflicted with a severe cold, but has been equal to all the duties of his position and was ably assisted by the clerk, Mr. Fessenden, who has easily proved the wisdom of his election to that responsible and arduous place.

Representative Field, of Bangor, has taken charge of the application of the Bangor Historical Society, who request the Legislature to appropriate a small sum to preserve the old Block House at Fort Kent. He will be assisted by Major Dickey.

Most all the members whose homes are accessible have left town to pass the Sabbath. Next week is expected to bring a full delegation of wives and daughters whose presence will grace several social gatherings which we will notice hereafter.

What Struck Wm. Patterson, will always be unwritten history, but if Wm. were here breathing the ozone of to-day, he would be struck again—with others, that our persistent reiteration of making ready 10 per cent. discount from regular prices on Custom Clothing must mean something. Gentlemen will not miss it. Reversals, and twenty-three dollars saved on a suit, and in the trousers pocket, which go far toward a box of cigars or lunch for another rich condition of the poor heat on deposit in the bank. Elegant fitting garments at the I. H. Rankins.

[illegible] aiding and abetting or in [illegible] in manufacturing, compounding, buying or selling any of the nitro or chlorate compounds mentioned in this section either by furnishing materials [illegible], assisting by skill or labor, or by acting as agents for principal, or in any [illegible] as accessory before the fact, knowing any such nitro or chlorate explosive compounds are intended to be used by principal or any other person or [illegible] of said principals and may [illegible] convicted and punished in the [illegible] and to the same extent as [illegible] principals.

Sec. 2. Every person who transports [illegible] causes to be delivered, any [illegible] nitro or chlorate explosive compound [illegible] in the 1st section of this act, on board of any vessel, railroad car or vehicle whatever, employed in carrying passengers, by land or water, between any place in the United States and place in any foreign country, or between any place in one State, territory or district of the United States and a place in any other State, territory or district thereof or at any depot, wharf or warehouse within the United States used for the purpose of serving, discharging or storing freight, knowing that the same are to be used by any person or persons for the purposes prohibited by this act, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction be punished by a fine of not more than ——, dollars or less than —— dollars and every master of, a vessel, freight superintendent, or other officers of a railroad, authorized to receive freight, and every person having direct charge and control of any depot, wharf or warehouse, such as is contemplated by this section, who receives any of the nitro and chlorate explosive articles enumerated in the first section of this act for transportation or delivery, knowing that the same are to be, or are intended to be, used by any person or persons for the purposes prohibited by the first section of this act, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than —— dollars, or less than —— dollars, and on all convictions under this section it shall be competent for the court, in its discretion, to order that the party so convicted shall be imprisoned until the fine is paid.

Section 3. All prosecutions under the act shall be by indictment. It is hereby made the duty of all Judges of the Circuit and District Courts of the United States to bring its provisions to the special notice of grand juries and to enjoin upon such juries the importance of their making full and careful inquiry into any violations of its provisions, which may properly be brought or may come to their notice.

Section 4. Prosecutions under this act shall be conducted by the District Attorney of the United States for the district in which the offence is committed, or the accused party is indicted, but in prosecutions under the first section where the Attorney General deems the case of special importance, he may, under the direction of the President, retain such additional special counsel as shall be necessary and essential to the interests of the government.

Our Foreign Trade for December.

The Chief of the Bureau of Statistics reports that during December, 1884, the value of our exports of merchandise amounted to $91,[illegible],810, or $300,000 a day. This has been exceeded but twice, namely, during December, 1881, and December, 1882. FOREIGN NEWS.

DESTRUCTION BY DYNAMITE.

Frightful Explosion in London.

Westminster Hall, House of Commons and the Tower of London Badly Damaged.

Several Persons Hurt and One, at Least, Fatally.

No Clue to the Perpetrators of the Outrages.

LONDON, Jan. 24. The Houses of Parliament and the government offices were severely shaken and considerable damage was done by an explosion to-day. It is impossible at this moment to tell the extent of the calamity. The report of the explosion was heard in Downing street. Great excitement prevails and enormous crowds are assembling at the scene. The origin of the explosion is wrapped in profound mystery, but it is believed to have been caused by dynamite.

The explosion occurred close to the House of Lords, near Westminster Hall. It is reported that the explosive was placed in a crypt under the building. One policeman was hurt. The force of the shock was tremendous and was felt at a great distance. The amount of damage done was very great.

Another explosion occurred at two o'clock this afternoon at London Tower.

There were two explosions instead of one, as at first supposed, at the Parliament houses. The second, which came about three minutes after the first, was near the House of Commons, the other was at Westminster Hall. One man has been arrested near the scene of the explosion. A detective force is hard at work now seeking further developments, which are anxiously awaited, particularly by people in the neighborhood of Westminster Hall.

Later Reports.

Rumors regarding an explosion at London Tower are confirmed. The outrage was the most successful which has yet been made upon any of the public buildings since the inauguration of the present era of dynamite warfare.

The attack was made on the portion of the building known as White Tower. It was fairly filled with visitors at the time and most, if not all, of those who are known to have been hurt, were moving about in the Tower at the time of the explosion. White Tower was almost completely wrecked by the force of the explosion and the roof was blown completely off the structure. All the persons known to have been injured were visitors.

The great window over the main entrance to Westminster Hall was smashed to atoms, and all the side windows, also, were blown out. In the interior of the House of Commons and upon the floor the only seat damaged by the explosion was that which Gladstone occupied. It was badly broken. Also all chip was also torn off the top of the Speaker's chair. The explosion caused quite a panic among the visitors who were in the building at the time. Those who were in the House of Commons fled precipitately and many of the ladies were buried in the crush. The second explosion in the Parliament buildings occurred three minutes later than the first and was far more destructive.

The dynamite which caused the second explosion must have been placed under the Peers' Gallery on the left side. Little hope is entertained of the survival of the wounded policeman. The force of the explosion was such that one man was blown to the earth who was as many as 300 yards from the point where it occurred. The lobby of the House of Commons was completely demolished.

Theories as to the Explosion.

The investigation so far made by the police leads to the conclusion that the explosives used in the attack on the Tower were handled by persons who gained access to the structure as sight-seers. Nearly every person who was within the Tower is detained and will be subjected to personal examination. The explosion was terrific and was heard for miles up and down the Thames, and at once attracted an immense crowd to the scene.

Damage to the White Tower less Severe than at First Reported.

LONDON, Jan. 24—5 P. M. Later reports show that the first stories about the damage to the White Tower were somewhat exaggerated. The White Tower building was not destroyed. It is now said that the structure was not even seriously injured. These later reports have tended somewhat to allay public excitement. The popular indignation against the perpetrators of the outrage is indescribable. A large number of children were among the visitors. Many of these little ones had their faces and hands very badly torn by broken glass and flying splinters. The most piteous sight in the large crowd of innocent prisoners detained within the Tower walls was afforded by these little ones, with their pale faces and bleeding heads. The crowd outside the walls has been wrought up to a state of frenzy against the perpetrators of the outrage.

The scene in and around the tower of London is indescribable. Yells are heard on every side to "lynch the villains." Col. Majendie, Chief Inspector of Explosives, believed that a woman had charge of the explosive apparatus at Westminster Hall and at the lobby of the House of Commons.

Immense Damage in the Lobby of the Parliament House.

One lady who was visiting the House of Commons at the time of the outrage was seriously injured. Immense damage was done in the lobby; masonry, decorations and sculpture were utterly destroyed. The place is described as literally blown to pieces.

The city is in a frenzied state of excitement. The whole of the police force is on duty and troops in and around the city are under arms. Police patrols are stationed everywhere in close proximity to each other and a cordon of police has been drawn around every public building. Chief Superintendent Williams, of Scotland Yard, has personally inspected the scenes of the explosions, as also have Inspectors Livingstone and Kelly. One of the wounded policemen is dying. Several men have been arrested but they are believed to be innocent of any connection with the horrible outrages. The man taken into custody in the vicinity of Westminster Hall is a Canadian and apparently a seafaring man. He was thoroughly searched but nothing of an incriminating nature was found on his person. He was part owner of a vessel.

Supposed to be Placed there by Women.

It is generally supposed the explosives were conveyed into Parliament House and placed in position by women. An eye witness of what occurred at the Parliament Houses narrates that immediately after the first explosion took place he entered Westminster Hall and lent assistance in removing the wounded. He found three constables prostrated on the stairs leading into the crypt under the hall, all of whom were seriously injured. Near by a gentleman also lay stretched on the ground completely exhausted. His hat and portions of his clothing were torn to ribbons and he himself received severe injuries. The locality of the explosion in the House of Commons is always in a deep shadow, being directly under the gallery. Persons who would put dynamite there were much less likely to attract notice than at any other part of the House.

A woman who was visiting Westminster at the time of the outrage says she was descending the stairs leading to the crypt when she saw what appeared to be a burning dress. A volume of smoke was issuing from a burning article. She then saw a constable pick up the article and immediately throw it from him. As soon as the thing struck the ground it exploded with a terrific report. The Pall Mall Gazette summarizes its account of the explosion in the House of Commons in the following language: "The whole interior of the House of Commons presents a remarkable scene of devastation. Although there is a great litter, everything may be put right within a week's time. Nothing is more surprising about the whole dastardly outrage than its utter failure to effect any substantial injury." The Canadian arrested on suspicion of complicity in the perpetration of the crime has proved his innocence and been freed from custody.

Six o'clock p. m.—Further Details.

It has been ascertained that a large quantity of explosive matter had been placed inside the great ornamental gate leading to the crypt under Westminster Hall. The gates were blown clear off the hinges and thrown to the ground. The concussion shook down from the grand oak roof of the hall the accumulated soot of centuries. In the lobby splinters were for a time as thick as flakes in a blinding snow storm. They were propelled in many cases with dangerous force. The explosion occurred on the second floor at White Tower. All authorities agree that dynamite was used. The explosion took place at two o'clock this afternoon. Lord Chelmsford and Gen. Millman are now engaged in the work of inspecting the attacked structure. Some reports place the number of persons injured by the Tower explosion at only four. No arrests have yet been made.

The Queen has telegraphed for particulars of the explosion to Sir Wm. H. Harcourt. Hundreds of rifles were damaged in the Tower which was ignited and the fire was suppressed with great difficulty. The Ancient Armory was destroyed. The throng of people about the Parliament buildings continues as great as ever at this hour (7.30 P. M.) and is tumultuous with excitement. The policeman most seriously injured by the explosion is sinking rapidly. All hopes of recovery have been abandoned.

Police constables Cole and Cox, who were so seriously injured by the explosion in Westminster Hall, are still unconscious at 10 o'clock this evening and their recovery was considered absolutely hopeless. A favorable theory of the police is that the dynamite which caused the explosions in Westminster Hall, House of Commons and the Tower was carried to the place in each case concealed under the long cloak of a woman whose appearance was thus made to resemble that of woman about to become a mother. A woman in whom this appearance was very noticeable was seen among the visitors at the Tower this afternoon shortly before the explosion occurred. She was escorted by a tall man with a military air. Neither of them could be found after the gates were closed after the explosion and when the visitors came to be searched. It is supposed that the woman and her escort escaped during the rush that occurred just after the explosion and before the gates were closed.

The investigation of the police is gradually riddled. An intense anti-Irish feeling has been aroused by the outrage and is certain to unfavorably affect decent Irishmen employed, or seeking employment, in England. Vigilance committees and anti-Irish leagues of employers are [illegible]. It is estimated, according to the character and energy of the explosive employed in the House of Commons, that had the House been in session Mr. Gladstone, Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt, Charles Bradlaugh and 200 other members would have been killed. The search of visitors at the Tower, after the explosion, occupied four hours. The number injured by the explosion is as follows: At the Tower six injured seriously and fourteen slightly; at Parliament buildings four seriously and [illegible] slightly. The worst injuries were [illegible] by Constables Cox and Cole and a civil engineer named Edwin Greene who was visiting the Parliament buildings. Over a hundred visitors were in the House of Commons when the explosion occurred in Westminster Hall.

The Damage at the Tower.

About sixty visitors were in the Tower at the time of the explosion. The explosive agent was deposited in what is known as the Banquet Hall of the White Tower. This hall is now used as an armory and in it were stored a large number of maritime rifles, which were destined to be shortly issued to volunteers at [illegible]. Behind a rack of these rifles the deadly compound was placed and the dynamite played fearful mischief with the rifles. Many were twisted into the most eccentric shapes imaginable, and their distorted forms were scattered about the hall in a marvel of confusion. All the glass and other fragile articles in the hall were smashed out of all semblance to their former selves. The woodwork was set on fire by the explosion but before any serious damage was done by the flames they were extinguished. All the persons who were arrested during the afternoon on suspicion of being implicated in to-day's crime were released.

Forty-Eighth Congress—Second Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. Mr. Edmunds introduced a bill to prevent and punish crimes by means of explosive compounds. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The military Academy appropriation bill passed by the House was laid before the Senate and referred to the Committee on Appropriations. The Senate closed its doors at 12.30, and Senator Edmunds continued his speech in favor of the ratification of the Nicaraguan treaty. Upon its conclusion a desultory debate of an hour took place, during which members of the foreign relations committee were questioned by others for information respecting the treaty and the relations of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty to the subject. No action of any kind was reached. During the progress of the debate the Associated Press dispatches about the London explosions were read for information and the following resolution offered by Senator Bayard, was the result of an informal talk on the floor:

Resolved, That the Senate of the United States has heard with indignation and profound sorrow of the attempt to destroy the House of Parliament and other public buildings in London, and hereby expresses its horror and detestation of such monstrous crimes against civilization. The consideration of the resolution was postponed until Monday to enable the Senate to receive fuller information on the subject matter. At 4.30 the doors re-opened and the Senate adjourned.

House.

The Committee on Appropriations reported the District of Columbia Appropriation bill. Referred to the Committee of the Whole. The House, at 3.05, went into committee as indicated.

An amendment was adopted appropriating $3,000 for the cultivation and distribution of the tea plant on the government farm. The committee then rose and the bill was passed.

Mr. Townshend, of Illinois, made an effort to call up the Mexican Pension bill, but Mr. Mills, of Texas, moved to adjourn and this being lost, 103 to 108, he moved that the House take a recess. This motion met with a similar fate, but, at 4.30, a motion to adjourn was carried.

Two Augusta farmers returning from the west, were defrauded of $60 by two confidence men on a railroad train at Concord, recently.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Daylight has increased about one hour.

The livery men did a good business yesterday.

Rev. F. N. Pierce has closed his labors at Charleston.

C. B. Flynn, Esq., of Chicago, is at the Bangor House.

There was a good demand for loose hay on the market last week.

Next Thursday the evangelical churches all over the United States will offer prayer for colleges.

Col. Wm. A. Cromwell, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was in the city yesterday.

Almost everybody was riding yesterday afternoon and the streets presented a lively appearance.

There were numerous snow slides yesterday and a few small runaways were caused by them.

New cases have been put up in the post office to be used in the sorting and distribution of mail matter.

Mr. George T. Moody, of this city, will sing at the Union Hose Company's concert in Ellsworth, Feb. 12th.

Rev. G. W. Hinckley, of this city, has declined the call to the pastorate of the South Berwick Baptist church.

Messrs. E. M. Hersey, C. L. Hill and E. F. Walker, of this city, are on a fishing and hunting trip at Vanceboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson will continue to conduct revival meetings at the Union street Methodist church this week.

The Kenduskeag Ice Company have commenced cutting on their field. The other companies will begin to-day.

Snow fell thick and fast throughout the entire day Saturday. It was the first storm of any consequence for the whole winter.

Mr. J. F. DeSwart, of the Grand Trunk Railway, leaves this morning for Montreal where he will make his residence for the present.

The Boston boat arrived at Winterport Saturday at quite an early hour. Her passengers came up from Bucksport on the regular afternoon train.

The mail train from the west was about three hours late into this city Saturday evening. The delay was caused by the snow on the Boston and Maine.

Judge Appleton was much better yesterday and is thought to be rapidly improving. His many friends are glad to learn that his sickness will not be as serious as was expected.

The Portland Bicycle club after their exhibition have arranged for a trip to Augusta, Lewiston, Bangor and Gardiner. In Portland they say the exhibition is an unusually pleasing one.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Bangor Board of Trade this afternoon at the Common Council room, City Hall, at three o'clock. Officers will be elected and other business transacted.

Mr. F. C. Jones has resigned his position as organist in St. Mary's Catholic church and Mr. [illegible], who has played for the past six years in Salmon Falls, N. H., has been engaged to fill the place.

Mr. William Thelbert Fastry, the well known Christian elocutionist and dramatic reader has been taken to the Insane Hospital. He is well known throughout this section of the State and his many friends will regret to learn of his misfortune.

Mr. W. H. Edmunds, of this city, has been appointed Grand Outside Guard, of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias of Maine to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. N. A. Packard. The appointment was made by Grand Chancellor Lewis A. Barker, of this city.

Tea White has added a novel coffee department to his store. Every customer receives a cup of coffee made in the "Ideal" coffee pot and from Tea White's Cream Java Coffee. A White representative has been stationed and advises all who want a delicious cup of coffee to call and see Tea White.

Engine No. 16, of the Maine Central, started from Vanceboro Saturday night with a snow plow and scraper to come down the line. It had run as far as Danforth when the train hands discovered a broken wheel under the tender, and the train was obliged to stop and wait until a new set of wheels could be obtained from the shop.

THE CHOCOLATE PARTY, given at the Music Hall next Thursday evening, by the ladies of the St. John's Episcopal church, is certain, we understand, to be a great success. It will have, we are told, some new features which will be interesting. It will have the usual select company—a supper worth the admission fee—fifty cents—and music and dancing with no extra charge. It is rare that Bangor sees a finer looking assembly than those which usually gather at the parties given by these ladies.

SOCIABLE. Penobscot Lodge, No. 7, I. O. O. F., will hold their sociable Wednesday evening. Since the fire in their hall the heating facilities have been greatly improved so that now there is no chance for a fire to originate from the furnace. The fire escape has been made easy of access and the room communicating with it will be kept lighted. Although there was but very little danger at the time of the fire the Lodge has now taken every precaution to guard against anything of the kind which ever might arise.

PERSONAL. Letters from Freiberg, Saxony, received Saturday by General Charles Hamlin from his son and Mr. H. R. Bradley, convey the news of Mr. Addison Hamlin's perfect and speedy recovery. His illness, as it now appears, was caused by diphtheria with which he was attacked last August, and now proves to be only temporary. He expects to resume his studies at the Mining Academy in a few weeks. The many friends of Gen. and Mrs. Hamlin as well as of the young gentleman himself will be rejoiced to learn the glad tidings of his recovery.

COMPLIMENTARY TO A FORMER BANGOR SINGER. Wednesday evening, Jan. 14th, the cantata of Esther was presented in Braintree, Mass., by the Braintree Musical Association. The Quincy Advertiser in a notice of the entertainment while not speaking of the other singers says the following pleasant words of Mr. F. G. Lunt, formerly a favorite tenor of this city. "It is a risky business and sometimes not wholly free from threats, to make any criticism or any insidious comparison, and however true this may be when applied to singers and musicians generally, yet, the venture must be made in the present instance, at least to the extent of noticing the debut on this occasion of Mr. Lunt a gentleman who has but recently moved in amongst us and who possesses a magnificent tenor voice which he has in perfect control, and never plays him false. It is to be hoped that Mr. Lunt has pitched his tent to stay."

M. G. Shaw, Esq., and wife, of Greenville, were at the Windsor Hotel Saturday.

Owing to Mr. Andrews' engagements out of town the Wednesday afternoon juvenile class is postponed.

There will be skating every forenoon, afternoon and evening at the Union Hall rink this week, with a private assembly Thursday evening.

The New Year's carnival at Carmel has been repeated with a change of programme, and the last entertainment was a great success.

The officers elect of Rising Virtue Lodge, No. 10, F. and A. M., will be installed at Masonic Hall to-morrow evening at 7½ o'clock.

It is reported that a Bangor man who has been at work on Trout Brook, West Branch for I. W. Reed was recently struck by a falling tree and badly injured.

A large list of novelties is announced for Norombega Skating Rink this week, every afternoon and evening, except Friday. Boys' race Monday evening and Obstacle race Friday.

FINE HARNESSES. We saw Saturday a pair of very handsome harnesses which were made for undertaker F. J. Cole at Mr. M. J. Madden's establishment on Exchange street. They are of the finest quality of leather with solid rubber trimmings all the rings on which are gold lined. The bits are rubber with heavy gold plated heads. On the bridle, blinders and hip straps is the initial C in gold. The cost of the harnesses here was $125, but we are informed that their price in a Boston harness store would be double that amount. The workmanship is very fine and reflects great credit upon Mr. Madden's establishment.

CONCERT OF THE CECILIA CLUB. The Cecilia Club give a public rehearsal this evening at City Hall, and to-morrow evening the second concert complimentary to its honorary members will be given at the same place. The concert will begin at eight o'clock and the hall will be open at a quarter past seven. Honorary members, and members of the class who have not received their tickets, can obtain them of the Secretary, C. L. Dakin, at 72 Main street. It is a matter of regret that the Club find themselves financially unable to give all the concerts in the Opera House. One or both of the other concerts will doubtless be given there if the Club meet with any encouragement.

MILFORD CHURCH ITEMS. A correspondent writes: The new church is steadily approaching completion. A furnace has been put in and we expect to plaster the structure at once. It is hoped to use the vestry very soon for regular services. A Society of Christian Endeavor was formed last week. Religious interest is steadily increasing. On Thursday evening last the pastor and his wife spent a pleasant social evening with a large number of their friends at the house of Mr. Geo. Barker, and when they came to go home were surprised by receiving a purse of money, a barrel of flour and a table filled with various bundles all so necessary in every family. Things valuable for their material good, but more valuable because of the motive of good will behind the gift.

EGG RACE AT UNION HALL. The egg race at Union Hall Saturday evening made lots of fun for those who attended. Twelve eggs were taken and placed about six feet apart in a straight line. A basket was placed twelve feet from one end of the line and there were four little Masters Fred Hitch, Ralph Crocker, Sip Ricker and Ernie Dixon were the contestants. When the word was given each started from his basket for the further egg in the line, picked it up and carried and placed it in the basket. This was repeated with every egg. Master Fred Hitch completed his task first and received a handsome silver medal appropriately inscribed. Ralph Crocker was second and received one dollar's worth of admission tickets. Mr. Fred S. Palmer was the referee.

TEMPERANCE. City Hall was well filled with our citizens yesterday at the Reform Club meeting. In the absence of President Page Vice President Capt. Wentworth officiated. In the opening Mrs. Pollard read the 104th Psalm and Chaplain Frost offered prayer. Appropriate introductory remarks were made by Mr. Wentworth, who then called upon ex-President J. B. Ayer who said: "I have reason to love the club and its work; it has done much for me, and so long as there is anything left of me I am at their command." The speaker feelingly counselled the young to abstain from all habits that invite intoxication. Ex-Vice President Matheson followed, in some advice, full of good points. Mrs. H. F. Prentiss spoke knowingly of the evil effects produced by using tobacco. Prof. Denio, of the Seminary, ably presented the true course for parents to mark out for children. This address was unexceptionably a solid one. Other excellent testimonies were presented by the following workers, Wm. R. Glass, Mrs. Crossman, and A. F. Haynes,—the latter presenting the pledge for signatures.

AMUSEMENTS.

Hi Henry's Minstrels.

There will be no better minstrel entertainment offered us this season than that by Hi Henry's Premium Minstrels, on Saturday night. It is divided into three departments. The first embracing genuine minstrelsy, songs, choruses, jokes and obligato solos in a first part, setting of elegance and splendor. The second department embraces a rapid succession of new startling specialties introducing the wonderful cantatrice, Billy Lyons, the musical challenge wonder, Tom English the skillful cornet soloist, Hi Henry, Mons. Burtine, Arabian juggler, Prince Lee, contortionist, a grand song and dance melange, and a skating carnival and other sensations. The third department is the par excellence of all minstrelsy and embraces one hour of genuine opera, in superb costumes of velvet, plush and diamonds, terminating in a gorgeous military scene of unparalleled splendor, a grand Tout Ensemble by Knights in silver sheen shields, banners, medallions, variegated colors of silks, satins and plushes, the scintillations of fabulous diamonds, enhanced by prismatic colored fires with full chorus and grand instrumental accompaniment.

Notes.

John T. Raymond will play an engagement at the Opera House in the spring.

"Nell Gwynne" and "East Lynne" will probably be presented by Charlotte Thompson at her coming engagement at the Opera House.

New Advertisements.

The Bangor News Company in their advertisement this morning offer a large stock of gentlemen's winter hose, in various styles at very low prices.

A. K. Dole again calls attention to the necessity of having photographs of your friends.

Everybody is invited to Tea White's to try a cup of his hot cream Java coffee.

Fernald & Co. have a new advertisement.

Robert A. Jordan continues to call attention to his shop.

Maine's importations of corn, via the roads that come into Portland are 10,000 to 15,000 carloads a year.

BRIDGING MOOSEHEAD LAKE.

Why Bangor Men Oppose It.

A representative of the WHIG AND COURIER has obtained the views of a large number of the leading citizens of Bangor as to why, in their opinion, the Legislature of the State should not grant the privilege prayed for by the Lake Megantic Railroad Company to be allowed to bridge Moosehead Lake. Some of these views are presented herewith and will be followed by others.

Hon. Charles Hayward.

Among our leading citizens none stand higher as a business man and as one having the interests of Bangor at heart, than does Hon. Charles Hayward, senior partner for many years in the leading wholesale flour and grocery house of Eastern Maine. Many years an active and valued member of the city government, and Mayor of the city he has always felt a deep interest in its welfare, which does not abate with increasing years. Mr. Hayward says that he believes that the privilege asked for should not be allowed. The city at great expense, has pushed the Piscataquis Railroad through to Moosehead Lake on the clear understanding that it would then connect with the Lake Megantic Railroad, by means of which communication with the great West would be opened up so that our Western produce could be laid down as cheaply in Bangor as in Portland and Boston. That, the State having granted the charter to the Megantic Railroad Company in the interest both of the people of the State and of the Piscataquis Railroad, that it should not allow it, a foreign corporation, to deviate from its well understood and original route to the detriment both of the people of the State and of the Piscataquis Railroad. Bangor is largely interested in the latter road, and her citizens are interested in such a connection as will give us the benefit of the trade which through communication with the West will open up to them, and for these reasons he does not believe that the Legislature should allow the Lake to be bridged.

Hon. Lysander Strickland.

Ex Mayor Lysander Strickland is strongly opposed to granting the right asked for. The understanding when the Megantic road was chartered was plain and unmistakable that through connection with the Piscataquis Railroad at West Cove, Moosehead Lake, our people would have a direct communication with the West so that our products might be shipped there and their products brought here at a largely decreased cost of transportation, while the Piscataquis Road, in which the city of Bangor is interested to the extent of a million and a half of dollars, would be largely enriched in value by the increased amount of business which such a connection would bring about. Again the interests of Bangor as a feeder for eastern and northern Maine would be greatly injured if not ruined by a competing road coming directly from the West to the doors of Bangor's customers without giving Bangor the opportunity to obtain her own supplies at rates as low as those of other portions of the State. The policy of the State said Mr. Strickland, in railroad matters, has hitherto been a wise and conservative one, granting charters only when the interests of the people required them and having due regard to the rights and interests of the existing lines of road. He cannot believe that the Legislature ever will grant to a foreign corporation which only desires to use the State of Maine for the purpose of shortening communication between its own interior and seaboard, privileges which would but work to the great injury of the railroads and the people of our own State. Another objection urged by him is that the bridging of the Lake must seriously interfere with the navigation upon its waters now carried on by eight steamers and many sailing vessels and the number of both is expected to the rapidly increasing travel at the Lake being continually increasing. The obstruction to the navigation of the Lake could not be obviated by a draw as the boats are run at all hours of the day and night, in response to the requirements of visitors, and the sailing craft must avail themselves of the wind for running or beating through the channel. He is decidedly opposed to the passage of the proposed bill.

Hon. Newell Blake.

Ex Mayor Blake, in addition to the question of the business interests of Bangor and the Piscataquis Railroad, has a frequenter of Moosehead Lake, one of the most beautiful and healthful resorts of the whole world; is decidedly averse to destroying the beauties and attractions of the Lake, now so rapidly coming into notice as a great place of summer resort, by such an encroachment as a bridge across the Lake would be. Much of the charm of that delightfully sequestered spot would pass away were a bridge thrown over it, obstructing the view and preventing the free passage of the numerous water craft with which the Lake abounds. Such a destruction of the natural beauties of the scenery would be greatly injurious to the Lake as a place of resort, and a damage to the enterprising gentlemen who have invested large sums of money to improve the Lake as a place of summer rest and travel by the erection of the magnificent hotel just completed at Kineo.

As regards the understanding upon which the Megantic charter was granted, and the Piscataquis road pushed through to the Lake, Mr. Blake's views, like those of the two gentlemen previously named, are that it would be a gross violation of the rights both of the Piscataquis railroad and of the citizens of Bangor. If the State grants to a foreign corporation, as is the Megantic the privilege of crossing our State, it should, in turn, demand that the interests of our State roads and our own citizens should be conserved thereby, and not, as would be the case should the permission be granted, allow it to be lost to the damage of both.

ANOTHER STATEMENT OF THE MATTER.

Mr. Editor:—It will be remembered by the readers of our paper, that about two years ago, through the efforts of the citizens of Bangor, legislation was had which authorized the Piscataquis R. R. Co., to issue $[illegible]00,000 in bonds, secured by a mortgage to take precedence of all other mortgages then existing upon said road; that $40,000 of said bonds were to be used to take up the bonds secured by what was then termed, the second mortgage upon said road, and $200,000 of the same were to be used in constructing said road from Blanchard to Moosehead Lake at such a [illegible] as to connect with the then chartered [illegible] Railroad.

[illegible] were used to take up the [illegible] said second mortgage dis[illegible]

[illegible] parties who held said bonds [illegible] in the Megantic road, and [illegible] the understanding that, if the road should be constructed to [illegible] when the Megantic should be [illegible] that it would connect with it [illegible] that this $40,000 was paid.

$200,000 the road has been constructed to the lake, and now the Megantic Company instead of connecting their road with the Piscataquis at the lake is asking the Legislature to allow it to change its route and bridge across the lake without having any connection with the Piscataquis road.

A road constructed and operated upon the route now asked for by the Megantic Company would greatly injure the business over the Piscataquis road, and would divert much trade from both Bangor and Portland and be a great injury to the whole State.

It would greatly mar the beauty of that inland sea which now surpasses any other in New England, and would obstruct its navigation and be a great injury to the lumbering interests of Maine. If the privilege which is asked for by the Megantic Company should be granted and the road constructed and operated, it would constitute a road running from Halifax through the State of Maine to the Western States upon which to transport the products of the Western States which now come to Portland and other New England sea ports to St. John and Halifax to be shipped from those ports to Europe. The road would be a sluice way through our State of the products that otherwise would come to our ports without increasing the business of the State, but rather greatly injuring it.

It is said by some of those who are in favor of bridging the lake that the Megantic Company do not propose to construct its road across the lake but eventually to connect with the Piscataquis, but it wants the charter to [illegible] the [illegible]. This would be [illegible]

It may [illegible] more than this. If the Megantic [illegible] get its charter to [illegible] the lake then it might say to the Bangor & Piscataquis Company you must now sell out to us the Piscataquis Road or we will build across the lake and [illegible] your road out [illegible]

This Megantic Company asks the Legislature to grant to a foreign [illegible] corporation which [illegible] greatly injure the [illegible] both Portland and Bangor and [illegible] the value of the Piscataquis road.

The Legislature [illegible] privileges to a foreign corporation which will injure the business and [illegible] the property of the citizens of our State and I will say as an [illegible] of Portland [illegible] I do not see how any [illegible] in Bangor can favor the road across the lake. S.

New Magazines

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE for February opens with the second installment of the amusing international story On this Side, introducing Sir Robert Heathcote and his party on their arrival in New York and while gaining their first impressions of American manners and customs. The writer's intimate acquaintance with English types and models is exhibited not merely in the national habits of thought and speech common to all the characters, but in the wise discrimination with which their different individualities representations of distinct types, are brought out and contrasted. Under the title of Steerage to Liverpool and Return, Thomas Wharton gives a graphic account of his experiences on board the Oregon and the Alaska and manages to convey the impression that for real enjoyment and opportunities of seeing life the steerage is to be preferred to the saloon on a transatlantic voyage. In an article on The Representation of the People in Parliament, Prof D B King [illegible] the successive steps in the history of this subject, from the first admission of [illegible] into the House of Commons, in [illegible] century, down to the recent [illegible] bill extending the franchise to [illegible] whole body of householders. The [illegible] Civil Service is described by [illegible] Miss Brewster has an [illegible] article on old Paris and its associations [illegible] two very agreeable papers on [illegible] and Poets and Æsthetic Children, [illegible] some excellent short stories, poems [illegible] sketches help to diversify the contents.

[illegible] ECLECTIC. The good things in the [illegible] issue of the Eclectic commend [illegible] to the different classes of readers [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] FEBRUARY CENTURY. The February [illegible] (midwinter) number of the Century, [illegible] edition of which is 180,000 copies, contains—besides such notable contributions as General Grant's article on Shiloh, the beginning of a novel by Henry James, entitled The Bostonians, which [illegible] the [illegible] characteristic [illegible] of the strong-minded of both sexes. In the Topics [illegible] [illegible] the bloody shirt [illegible] [illegible] Civil War, the first being an account General Fitz John Porter of the circumstances attending the offer to Sidney Johnston in 1861 of the command of the Union [illegible]

[illegible] ATLANTIC. [illegible] [illegible] the Great Smoky Mountains is continued, and here again the hero and [illegible] are brought into a [illegible] striking episode also occurs in Mrs Oliphant's Country Gentleman and in fact [illegible] three of the Atlantic serials, which [illegible] in January, are exceedingly interesting. Among the most important articles of a more solid nature are an account of the revival of interest in antique sculpture after the neglect of the Dark Ages, by William Shields Liscomb, under the title of The Quest for the Grail of Ancient Art, a second paper on Madame Mohl's Salon, and a clever article of a semi-critical nature on Vernon Lee by Harriet W. Preston. Dr Holmes's charming papers are continued, and although he says that The New Portfolio is not yet opened, it is hard to see how it could be more delightful if it were. Bradford Torrey contributes a pleasant paper on Winter Birds about Boston. A Sheaf of Sonnets, by Helen Gray Cone, and poems by Edith Thomas and E R Sill complete the poetry of this issue, while a crisp and pungent criticism of Nathaniel Hawthorne and His Wife, reviews of Montcalm and Wolfe, and of other volumes, together with the usual Books of the Month and the Contributors' Club, complete an excellent number. Houghton, Mifflin & Co, Boston.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR FEBRUARY opens with the first chapters of a new serial by E P Roe, author of The Opening of a Chestnut-burr, and Barriers Burned Away. It tells how a family in moderate circumstances was driven from the confinement of a city flat to the freedom of a country farm. The question, City or Country, is one that is constantly presenting itself to thousands of anxious minds, and parents as well as children will gain many valuable suggestions from Mr. Roe's presentation of the problem.

Another prominent and valuable feature of the midwinter St. Nicholas is Gail Hamilton's English Kings in a nutshell. The talented author has here given in easy flowing verse a comprehensive view of all the English sovereigns, with the principal events and distinguished personages of their reigns. Portraits of nearly every person mentioned, with many other illustrations, accompany the descriptive text.

Nora Perry is the first author to contribute to the Garden of Girls series. The story is entitled Tyrant Tracy, and is a charmingly written account of a girl's conquest of herself.

There is also a bright little Masque, or Miracle-play as it was called by its author, the late Wm M. Baker, author of His Majesty, Myself. The details very novel and bids fair to be popular.

Palmer Cox tells in his inimitable pictures and verses the story of the Brownies' Return to their native land, and the ingenious manner in which they accomplished it. Ralph's Winter Carnival tells of a boy's visit to the Winter Carnival at Montreal, and W. [illegible] Peters and Margaret Johnson are contributors of bright verse.

In the serials—Davy and the Goblin visit Robinson Crusoe; His One Fault causes Mr Trowbridge's hero to fall [illegible] to more trouble, Mr Stockton takes his Personally Conducted party to the queer [illegible] of Genoa; Edmund Alton imparts some more of what he absorbed Among the Law-makers, and we learn about Murillo in Mrs Clement's Stories of Art and Artists.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for February opens with a fine steel plate, entitled Dressed for the Carnival, representing two children, four years old, attired in fancy costume and singing a duet. [illegible] Besides this, however, there are [illegible] other embellishments, including a beautiful colored steel fashion plate, [illegible] and a costly [illegible] colored pattern. The literary contents are up to the usual standard. We would call attention particularly to In the [illegible] and The Lost Aladdin. Now is just the time, with the opening year, to subscribe for 1885. The terms are but Two Dollars a year, with great reductions to clubs, and splendid premiums for getting up the clubs. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for in good faith. Address Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for February is an unusually interesting number, beautifully illustrated. The Frontispiece is an engraving, by King from F. S. Church's painting, The Mermaid and the Sea-wolf.

The leading article, by Henry W. Lucy, is a description of Hatfield House, the home of the Marquis of Salisbury, the Tory leader. Among the illustrations are some beautiful drawings by Adrian Stokes and Joseph Pennell.

Louise Livingston Hunt contributes some new and interesting material concerning General Richard Montgomery, whose youthful heroism and early death constitute the most [illegible] of our Revolutionary War. The article is illustrated.

Mrs. Le Plongeon, wife of the distinguished explorer, gives an interesting description of Merida, the Capital of Yucatan, and of a [illegible] to the ruins of Uxmal—beautifully illustrated.

Professor Newcomb's article on the Lick Observatory includes, besides an entertaining sketch of James Lick, a complete history of the progress thus far made in the construction of the great telescope [illegible] views of the Observatory illustrate the paper.

[illegible] is that by Dr. Richard T. Ely, on Pullman City. [illegible] showing that whatever advantages may be secured to the laborer by the most benevolent of [illegible] [illegible] to the captains of industry, the result would be [illegible] the most absolute [illegible] capitalists, and the repression of all independence on the part of the labor.

Guarding the [illegible] the title of a very interesting study in Natural History by John P. Coryell, beautifully illustrated by J. C. Beard.

The second installment of Miss Woolson's serial story, East Angels, gives the reader's in novel and charming pictures of Florida, and in its concluding scenes introduces for the first time the [illegible] of the novel.

The readers of the mysterious novel At the Red Glove will enjoy its faithful pictures of Bernese life and the quaint humor of Captain Lorgner's wooing.

Edward Everett Hale contributes one of his brightest short stories in Mary Cullen's Presents. There is also a characteristic short story by Lizzie W. Champney.

John Fiske contributes a paper on The Federal Union, giving a history of its [illegible] precedents. This is the second of his series on American Political Ideas.

The poetry of the number is contributed by William H. Hayne, son of the Southern poet, Maurice M. Marquand, Amelie B. Alcott, William Winter, and Louise Chandler Moulton. Mrs. Alden's poem is beautifully illustrated by [illegible]

NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.—Rev. Henry Ward Beecher discusses the question as to how far ministers may go in politics. In the same number of the Review, the question How shall the President be Elected? is ably treated by five writers, viz, two United States Senators, Dawes and Vance, a college president, F. A. P. Barnard, of Columbia; a New York lawyer, Roger A. Pryor, and a well known journalist, William Purcell. Another notable article is a review of Holmes's Life of Emerson, by the veteran historian George Bancroft, and still another is an essay by Prof C. A. Young on the [illegible] regarding the Sun's Corona, which he skillfully brings within popular comprehension. The Rev Dr W. G. T. Shedd defends the dogma [illegible] Puritanism and Prof G. Stanley Hall writes on New Departures in Education.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "25 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882. [illegible] My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case. Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully, HIRAM PHILLIPS."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
